Doing gender (in)equalities in Swedish family farming

Gendered labour and resources in situated agrarian change

Elias Andersson

New Ruralities, Falkenberg, 24-26 August 2014

Purpose

How gender inequalities are reproduced within the case of Swedish family farming?

1. The organisation of the farm labour process
2. The access and distribution of material resources
3. Agrarian change and contextual preconditions of Sweden

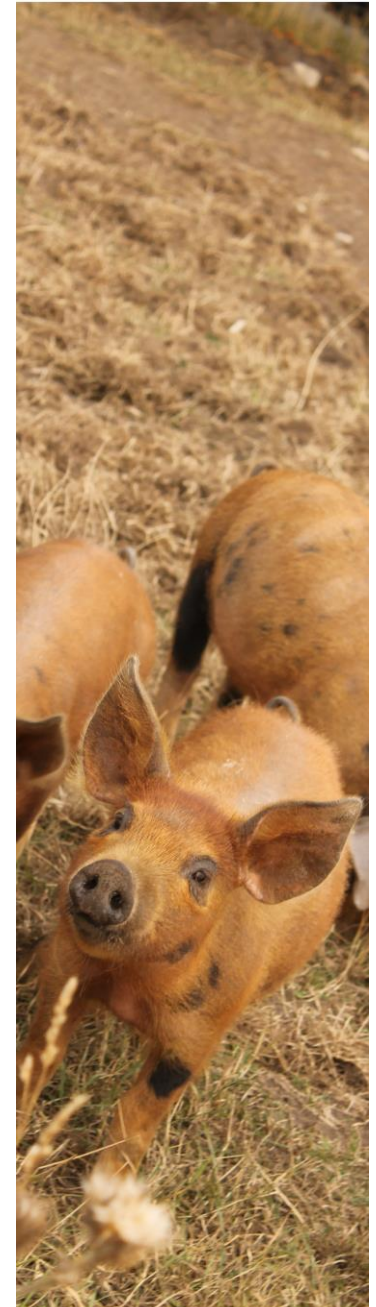

Theoretical framework

- Labour process theory
- Political economy
- Feminist standpoint theory
- Material feminism

Papers

- I. Gendered Resource Access and Utilisation in Swedish Family Farming
- II. Gendered time in Swedish family farming: Operationalising an agrarian typology using the Swedish Farm Accountancy Data Network
- III. Gendered agricultural space and safety: Towards embodied, situated knowledge
- IV. Managing flexibility and expectations: lived experiences of spatial-temporal relations in Swedish family-based dairy farming

Conclusion

- Unequal distribution of resources
- The gendered organisation of the farm labour process
